

Refresh and update your career coaching skills, knowledge and resources...

Worklife's Career Coach Certification Program has certified an estimated 2,000+ career coaches since the mid 1990's. Today, these former participants are providing career coaching guidance to a wide range of clients, both within organisations and through the private sector.

At Worklife, we work diligently to constantly review and update our resources and coaching materials in line with current career coaching trends, participant feedback, and our own research. This constant innovation led to the original development of Worklife's Card Sort Discovery Tools and these resources are still a major part of Worklife's approach to career coaching today.

The cards themselves, are very different...

In 2006/07 we redesigned the Card Sort Discovery Tools with new content, facilitator's guides, newer more professional presentation, and to align with adult learning principles and Worklife's research. For 2010 we have added to this package with a new Career Kaleidoscope and a workshop to refresh the skills of existing Worklife-certified career coaches.
