

2010 Workshop Calendar

16 October 2009

Sydney, AUSTRALIA

Worklife International Pty Limited ("Worklife") – Australia's leaders on career coaching and certification for career coaches - today launched its 2010 workshop calendar.

Worklife provides a range of half, one, and two-day workshops focused on individual career planning and development of career coaching skills aimed at:

- Individuals;
- Managers; and
- Career Coaches (in-house & private practitioner).

Commenting on the release of 2010 dates, Worklife's Managing Director (Peter Tobin) said...

"We constantly strive to provide our clients with flexibility in learning and skill development, and this translates to our 2010 workshop calendar as well.

"To truly service our clients, we need their involvement in determining our calendar ... and this is the approach we have taken in planning for 2010."

Worklife's 2010 calendar includes two workshops for new and existing career coaches and a number of workshops for individuals looking to take more control of their career. Some dates are scheduled but Worklife's approach is based on flexibility and meeting the client's needs when scheduling workshops.

For Individuals

The range of workshops aimed at developing an individual's career planning skills includes:

My Career Development Journey

A one-day workshop aimed at increasing self-awareness and planning the next stages of the career.

Career Health Check

A three-hour fun and intensive analysis of the current role and fit with personal goals and work-related values.

Job Readiness Workshop

A one-day workshop specifically aimed at those who are without a role and are searching for a role.

Life Planning

A one-day review of career and life for those considering a transition from work to retirement!

Clients, who are interested in attending a workshop, register their interest at www.worklifeint.com When interest peaks at maximum numbers for a truly valuable learning experience, the workshops are scheduled. The ultimate in participant-led flexibility!

For Career Coaches

Worklife's 2010 workshops for career coaches includes:

Career Coach Certification Program (CCCP)

First presented in the early 1990's, this workshop has developed career coaching skills in an estimated 2,000 participants. Major program redevelopment occurred in 2006 to align this learning with recognised career coaching competencies and the content has been revised and updated each year since 2006.

Card Sorting Refresher

This is a new workshop to the Worklife range - enhancing career coaches' knowledge of Worklife's Card Sort Discovery Tool activities. This one-day workshop provides existing Worklife-certified career coaches with resources and facilitation techniques using Worklife's card activities.

Peter Tobin commented: "Our former CCCP participants are always asking how to access the revised and new versions of the card activities and Career Kaleidoscope without completing the CCCP workshop again. Now, we have met those needs with this new workshop. Past CCCP participants come along for a refresher day and receive new versions of cards, facilitator guides, extension activities, and Career Kaleidoscope. It is also a great way to network with other career coaches."
